“Prescription for Keeping Your Family on Track”

Here are some issues and ideas the family will find useful exploring together.

1. Communication: uninterrupted time; open listening; express feelings, thoughts and needs clearly; clarify understandings; explore and change negative thoughts; use ‘I-statements’; empathic respect; write to each other
2. Problem solving: identify preferences; set goals; generate options; test solutions; try other solutions if necessary; evaluate
3. Managing conflict: diffuse anger; explore values; identify real issues; tolerate differing opinions; generate solutions; test/re-explore options; use appropriate humour; make-up; plan future strategies; ask for, and grant, forgiveness
4. Shared activities: family as a ‘team’; celebrate birthdays; holidays; travel; traditions; routines and rituals; reminisce
5. Solo activities: each person having separate interests and hobbies
6. Closeness: quantity time; express love; discuss needs; make requests; plan activities; quiet moments; fun times; show interest & curiosity in each other; display respect
7. Connections: shared meal times; socialise with friends; time with extended family; nurture intergenerational links
8. Wellbeing: values; spirituality; community; volunteering; nature; gardening; health; culture; exercise; nutrition; art; theatre; literature; movies; music; dance
9. Lifestyle: chores; roles; housework; finances; careers; be bold and optimistic; pets; explore purpose/happiness in life
10. Networks: consult a relationship specialist; religious minister.
